"Eye Nature's walks.
Shoot folly as it flies,
And catch the manners,
Living as they rise;
Laugh where we must.
Be candid where we can,
But vindicate the Ways of God to man."

From "Letters from a Father to His Daughter Entering College," by Charles Thwing, published by the Platt & Peck Co., New York.

The cultivated person is the person who appreciates the best which life offers. Appreciation is both intellectual, emotional, volitional. It is discrimination plus sympathy. It contains a dash of admiration. It recognizes and adopts the best in every achievement—the arts, literature, poetry, sculpture, painting, architecture. The cultivated person seeks out the least unworthy in the unworthy, and the most worthy in that which is at all worthy. The person of cultivation knows, compares, relates, judges. He has standards and he applies them to things, measures methods. His moral nature is fine, and his intellectual is honest. He is filled with reverence for truth, duty, righteousness. He is humble, for he knows how great is truth, how imperative duty. He is modest, for he respects others. He is patient with others and himself, for he knows how unattainable is the right. He can be silent when in doubt. He can speak alone when truth is unpopular. He is willing to lose his voice in the "choir invisible." He is a man of proportion, reality, sincerity, honesty, justice, temperance, intellectual and ethical.

At high noon yesterday the lovely home wedding of Miss Maye Elizabeth Timmons to Mr. Leigh Dyer Bull of Arlington, Okla., was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Timmons, 510 Jefferson street. Pink and white were the wedding colors just the tones for a pretty, simple morning wedding, and were effectively carried out in floral decorations of La France roses with fern and pink and white sweet peas. The bride, Miss Maye Elizabeth Timmons, was escorted to the altar by her brother, Mr. Leigh Dyer Bull, and her best man, Mr. Cave Bull, brother of the bridegroom, entered next and following these came the bride in an elegant and becoming gown of clinging white crepe de chine over mull. Her veil was caught with a spray of orange blossoms and fell in graceful folds about her. The bridal bouquet was of lily of the valley and bride's roses, her only jewels being a pearl sunburst. Miss Timmons was attended by her matron of honor, Mrs. Otis Trulove, of Plainview, who was handsomely gowned in apricot silk crepe trimmed in shadow lace and worn over Dresden satin.

The bride's mother, Mrs. C. A. Timmons, wore a becoming gown of black messaline. After the beautiful ring ceremony was performed Mr. and Mrs. Bull received the congratulations of the relatives and friends who were present at the wedding and later a dainty luncheon was announced for the guests and bridal party. At 1 o'clock the bride donned a handsome traveling suit of dark peacock blue with hat and gloves to match and Mr. and Mrs. Bull left for a honeymoon trip, to points of interest in the Colorado mountains. From there they will go on to Arlington, where the groom has ready a lovely home out on his prosperous ranch.

The bride and groom have been childhood friends and college chums both families having been bound with closest ties of friendship for years.

Many handsome wedding presents have been received from friends at home and afar.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Frank Tatum, sister of the groom, and Mr. Tatum, of Dallas, Mr. Cave Bull of Dalhart, Miss Kathleen Alexander, of Meridian and Mrs. Otis Trulove and children of Plainview.

Mrs. W. B. Philpott won new laurels yesterday as a genial and vivacious hostess when she entertained the Amarillo Bridge Club with an all-day party at the lovely suburban home of Judge and Mrs. John W. Veale, from 9 until 12 o'clock when a delicious luncheon was served in the spacious dining room, consisting of chicken salad, potatoes au gratin, pimiento sandwiches, olives, asparagus tips, stuffed eggs, pear salad with nuts and pimiento hot rolls, iced tea.

After a brief period of rest at the close of the luncheon, playing was resumed and continued with unabated zeal until 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Beautiful and artistic floral decorations of sweet peas, nasturtiums and cut flowers made a fitting background for the lovely gathering of bridge players. The guests of the club were Mrs. T. J. Conditine and Miss Katherine Milliken. A very much appreciated courtesy was extended to the club during the morning in the way of an elegant five-pound box of candy, with the compliments of J. H. Harris and Son.

A number of delightful social functions have marked the social calendar for the week among the most enjoyable being the lovely party given yesterday morning by Mrs. W. H. Schrieber and Miss Josephine Wilborn at the home of the latter, 705 Tyler street, from 9 to 12 o'clock complimentary to Mrs. Schrieber's guest, Miss Annie Maude Harris of Fort Worth. Progressive luncheon was the game and furnished one round of delightful decorations of sweet peas, nasturtiums and palms made the room a cool, attractive, bowler like place just suitable for the charming gathering. At 11:30 o'clock a delicious two-course luncheon brought a close to the games. Those present besides the honoree were Misses Mildred and Frances Burgess, Thelma McOzier of Mexico, Katherine Owen, Mary Huff, Mary Don Works, Ruth Howard, Eunice and Pearl Burkhead, Ruby Patton, Della and Margaret Patterson, Lera Twichel, Gertrude Dinan, Ruth Perry, Reba Wrather, Dolly Cleveland, Currie, Trollinger, Lero Roberts, Sarah and Katherine Burgett, Margaret Randolph of Plano, Ruth and Ruby Killborn, Ada Richer, Helen Howe and Mesdames J. L. Scott, J. L. Richardson, F. Ryburn, A. K. Sims and A. S. Tugwell.

Miss Bess Wheatley very charmingly entertained the J. U. G. club yesterday afternoon at her home, 809 Washington street, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The club members are resting up from their study programs during the summer months and only light needle work is permitted to invade the meetings. At the close of the afternoon tea and cake refreshed the guests before they departed for their homes.

Prof. Danton, instructor of German at Butler college, Indianapolis, Ind., who has been giving a series of lectures on simplified spelling all through the west and southwest, spent the day in Amarillo yesterday as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Russell and family and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Russell.

George H. Denton, professor of German in Butler College, Indianapolis, was in Amarillo on Thursday on his way to Oklahoma. Professor Denton is traveling in the interests of the Simplified Spelling Board of New York, lecturing at various summer schools, and getting opinions as to the progress of the movement for simplification in the West and Southwest.

Dressmakers complain that most girls have uneven shoulders, especially those who sit at a desk many hours of the day. When you discover that one of your shoulders is higher than the other change your way of sitting at your desk. This simple exercise will help.

Extend the arm of the lower shoulder upward, the hand grasping the dumbbell. Lower the arm on the right side and with this hand support a heavy weight.

Another simple exercise for this defect is to forcibly depress the higher shoulder many times a day. You can do this as you are sitting at your work.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

At The Virginia

At the Virginia tonight "The Fight at Grizzly Gulch" will be re-enacted in all the realistic nature that moving pictures can engender. It is a spectacular portrayal of early western daring. The films for this theme have been produced at great expense. The story is refreshingly novel, enacted with magnificent photography, and interwoven with genuine Indians.

Part one begins with Wentworth, the young trader, leaving his wife for the Indian camp. He carries with him a quantity of tobacco. This the Indians covet. But he, cognizant of the manner of dealing with them, secures many skins. This consummated the Indians and young trader are startled by a cry of incantation from the Medicine Man. Wentworth discovers the chief's daughter is seriously ill. Realizing that none of the incantations can heal her, Wentworth administers medicine he carries in his saddle bag. This infuriates the Indians, who declare they will bring a plague to the tribe unless the white man is killed. Wentworth is taken prisoner. But the chief's daughter rapidly recuperates and liberates Wentworth. Realizing that the tribe will seek vengeance, she escapes with Wentworth. They become separated on the desert but she reaches the post, where she alarms the whites. Full of gratitude to Wentworth she assists him and his wife to escape by a subterfuge, when the Indians come upon the post and annihilate it.

Part second is especially splendid, and pleasing to the most fastidious of lovers of the "movie." Wentworth, having made his escape, meets with a party of soldiers, tells of his escape and soon the Indians come upon them, and there follows a terrible combat, in which the trader again makes his escape. The chief's daughter Starlight, being left to play all of the evening of her people in plotting Wentworth's wife and little one across the arid plains. As they reach the Indian burial ground they are suddenly apprised by the onslaught of a bunch of Indians, drunk with their several victories. Again she resorts to subterfuge and hides away the wife and child and herself among the graves of parted Redmen. The Indian by Wentworth reaches Fort after a perilous journey across plains, advises the troop of 1000 of the Indians, but before he can meet the Indians Starlight her protegee come into camp two women, faint and dejected, are tenderly cared for. The return to the camp. It is a rejoicing, but their festivity suddenly interrupted by the of the troops from Fort V. terrible battle is waged. from a distant hill, water struggle, after following the She witnesses the fleeing of Indians and the destruction of wigwams. With no home and no food, she sadly makes her way to the fort and begs the West to make her their servant.

There is no greater play than it abounds in the best in in the early days, and is characterized by pathos and admirable quality.

SUMMER FOODS AS CAUSE OF DISPEPSIA

MANY ALSO GET DIARRHOEA—WHAT TO DO IN EITHER CASE

Summer ought to be the months of most perfect health, but owing to contaminated water and milk, unripe fruit, germs and insects the average of health is not good at this time of the year. There is much skin trouble from acid fruits, and much dyspepsia and diarrhoea from cold foods and iced beverages.

The skin trouble is easily stopped by discontinuing fruit for a few days, and by the use of a mild laxative to clean the bowels and tone the blood. The dyspepsia is likewise corrected by the use of a laxative that has combined with it the elements of a digestive tonic. Hence the best remedy to use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, as its name indicates, is a pleasant laxative, combined with the virtues of pepsin, which we all know is the best cure for indigestion.

The Syrup Pepsin also for summer diarrhoea. Avoid astringents, physics and cathartics, as they are unnecessarily harsh. Thousands of good American families prefer Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, among them those of Mrs. W. A. Taylor, Belmont, Wis., who finds she can give it to her baby without causing cramps or pain, and Mrs. Wm. O. Riehter, Clayville, Va., who considers it a laxative tonic absolutely unexcelled. They know of no pleasanter cure for constipation, liver trouble, indigestion, summer diarrhoea, etc. It is valuable to all the family from infancy to old age. Children like its taste. All druggists sell it at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter being the family size.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418 Washington St. Monticello, Ill.
